About AIC

The Agricultural Industries Confederation (AIC) is the leading trade body for the agri-supply industry.

AIC represents over 230 Member companies across several sectors, including animal feed, crop protection, fertiliser, grain and oilseeds, and seed.

AIC Member companies supply over £17bn of inputs to UK farms – the vital foundation to a £120bn plus food and drink sector industry.

This years event:

AIC's Dinner will commence at 19:30 on the 11 November. As well as a sumptuous meal, this black tie event will feature a key after-dinner speaker.

AIC's Conference will commence at 09:00 on the 12 November, with a full speaker agenda of thought leaders from political, business and academia.

AIC Dinner & Conference

Established in 2003, AIC's Dinner & Conference brings together AIC Member companies, industry stakeholders, academia, and policy makers, to network, inform and influence.

AIC's Conference leads the conversation on supporting a modern, sustainable, commercial agricultural supply industry for food supply chains in the UK.

AIC Represents:

- 230 agribusinesses
- £17bn+ of farm inputs
- 43,000 direct and indirect employees
- 4,000+ AIC Assurance Scheme Participants

Managing New Global Norms in the Agri-Food Supply Chain

AIC's Dinner and Conference is well respected in the agri-supply industry and with stakeholders in the food-supply chain. The Conference attracts a high calibre of speakers from the business, scientific, and political communities.

This year's conference theme, "Managing New Global Norms in the Agri-Food Supply Chain" will focus on the key issues facing the agri-supply industry, with prompt thought and debate at sessions throughout the day.

AIC's Dinner & Conference will take place at the Holiday Inn West, Thorpe Wood, Peterborough, PE3 6SG. There will be networking opportunities and a trade exhibition.

Booking options:

Full options on how to book the Dinner and Conference can be found on AIC's website. Bookings are flexible, so as a delegate you can choose to attend all of the event, or just the Dinner or Conference.
